
Tables

I am looking to buy a decent table without spending too much money... possibly a less-popular brand, if anyone has any experience and/or advice on where to get it?

As an NATT employee I cannot answer your question without some bias. ;-)

We have used STIGA Expert tables for sale, at liquidation prices, in fact, since we have a new equipment sponsor, JOOLA, we also make their tables available.

If you are truly price sensitive, I'd suggest the STIGA offer. Email us directly at info@natabletennis.com and we can discuss final pricing including shipping to your address. ;-)

Actually I am not going to be able to get one until, at earliest, this August because I am moving. I know Stiga expert tables run around 800-900 retail... do you have a rough estimate of what a used one would be comparatively in terms of price?... b/c I like those tables.
