
WOW

Posted by guy - 2008/03/23 04:49

WOW

This forum is amazing!

With the first posted topic back in October of 2005 there has been 40 topics posted.

Of those 40 topics 15 of them have received replies and 3 of those 15 have received a maximum number of 7 replies

A total of over 10,000 views have taken place.

I don't understand how so many people that have the opportunity to question, comment or debate issues in a sport that they hold so dear can only find the time to look at what someone else has made an effort to get answers, opinions or comments on.

The governing bodies for the USTTA are trying hard to compete with the organized sports of baseball and basketball just to name a couple, and I'm sure they and even some of the veteran tt players get aggravated when ESPN will televise things like Arm Wrestling, Paper Rock Scissor or even Dominos and not Table Tennis here in the U.S.

Alright so I'm rambling, My point is that this is an informative site that is labeled North American Table Tennis and I believe it is here for your benefit to make use of it.

Are we as Americans that smart that we don't have to get someone else's opinion on what is the best way to play against choppers? What do you think the best rubber is for control? What do you think about the new doubles rule?

This is a forum where you can express your ideas or opinions, get involved.

=====